God intended marriage to be a life-long blessing to both husband and wife, and a source of strength, rest, and comfort. But the Enemy of God has done his best to destroy the integrity of marriage and marriage vows, and split up as many families as he can. Every marriage he breaks up causes untold emotional damage to all concerned, especially children. There is no more important ministry on earth right now than encouraging and healing Christian couples, and empowering them to serve other couples. We think we have developed a workshop that does just that.

One Flesh incorporates a variety of elements that have been drawn from the biblical text, the experiences of the team couples who have practiced the disciplines of healthy communication, and insights internalized from participating in a variety of other marriage enrichment seminars and reading many books on the subject.

The goal of One Flesh is to help couples to learn to communicate lovingly and intimately, generate greater love and unity in their relationship, and learn to minister together effectively as "joint heirs of the grace of life."

One Flesh is for those couples who have a vision for themselves as a ministry team, but who need help connecting with each other in a deeper way so their marriage is a steady source of strength and refreshment rather than a constant challenge or a drain.

Why not make an investment in your marriage and receive tools to help you work toward experiencing the blessings and joys of a truly happy and fulfilling partnership?
